

REMARKABLE MISSIONARY

Dr. Royal J. Dye Will Speak at The First Christian Church on Wednesday Night.

Dr. Royal J. Dye, returned missionary from Bolongo, Africa, will speak at the First Christian church Wednesday night at 7:15 o'clock, and the house should be crowded.

Dr. Dye is a most remarkable man and his story of that dark continent is most interesting and thrilling.

When he first went among these tribes of Africa, they were the worst type of savages and cannibals; had no written language and no religion and were entirely devoid of morals and spirituality. Dr. Dye has now constructed for them a written language and has printed, in that language, arithmetic, readers, spellers, and other school books, and is fast giving to this benighted race an education and insight into the higher order of things.

There was no church or missionary when he went there thirteen years ago, but today his church numbers nearly 2000, and the tabernacle is practically filled at every service. His Bible school has an average attendance of from 1200 to 1500 every Sunday, and now these men are today most devout Christians, and out of their scant earnings support 176 native missionaries and are sending the gospel into the darkest swamps and jungles of that dark continent. They are indeed setting their white brethren in America, and elsewhere an example in missionary giving and sacrifice that they would do well to emulate.

Dr. Dye's story is most interesting and entrancing and all who can should hear him Wednesday night as every body is invited.

Dr. Isaac Browne, who attended Emmerson, anticipates no serious results.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES

Mark Laying of Corner Stone of Winchester's New Government Building on Wednesday Afternoon.

In a haze of glory the cornerstone of Winchester's new government building was laid Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge.

The ceremony was witnessed by large crowds from every available spot that furnished a view. The windows of the McElowney Building and the Court House were filled with eager spectators. The tops of other nearby buildings also furnished place of vantage for eager witnesses.

The Masonic Lodge formed a parade in front of the Fraternity Building at 2:30 and marched south on Main to Fairfax; east on Fairfax to Highland, where they were joined by the children of the city schools. The parade then marched south on Highland to Hickman; west on Hickman to Main; north on Main to Broadway; west on Broadway to Wall street and to the Government Building.

The Grand Chaplin Rev. Frank B. Wentworth offered prayer, invoking divine blessing on the ceremonies.

To the patriotic strain of "America," as sung by hundred of school children, the cornerstone was then laid. The exact time was 3:15.

In the stone were placed the latest copies of the Winchester News, Sun-Sentinel and Democrat, and a copper plate, bearing the names of those instrumental in securing the building for Winchester, of the officials of the lodge and of the members.

Past Eminent Commander Joe E. Walt, of Cynthiana, assisted in the ceremony. From a cable over the speakers' platform was suspended a large United States flag, which waved gracefully during the ceremonies.

The program was carried out as follows:

FARMERS' INSTITUTE IN ROW AT FRANKFORT

Two Conventions Held And Both Elect Officers And Members of Board of Agriculture.

(Special)

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 28.—The State Farmers' Institute got into a row Tuesday that resulted in the withdrawal of President T. J. Biggstaff, of Mt. Sterling, and his friends from the convention and two institutes were held, the regular meeting being called to order in the Federal Court room by Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman and the rump meeting by President T. J. Biggstaff of the State Farmers' Institute, in the Frankfort opera house.

Each body elected members of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration for the Fourth and Sixth Appellate Districts, and appointed committees on Credentials, Legislation and Resolutions.

There were no signs of a revolt when Commissioner Newman rapped for order shortly after 11 o'clock, and the walk-out did not take place until after the Rev. Roger T. Nooe, of the Frankfort Christian church, delivered the invocation.

How the Trouble Started

As soon as the Rev. Mr. Nooe had taken his seat President Biggstaff arose and addressing the chair, said:

"Do you propose to preside at this meeting in place of the regularly elected president of the Kentucky State Farmers' Institute," to which Commissioner Newman replied:

"There is no president to preside until one is selected."

No sooner had the Commissioner spoken than the march to the opera house started. President Biggstaff leading the way, followed by some twenty-five delegates and others.

The work of the regular institute was then taken up in earnest, Mayor J. H. Polsgrove delivering the welcome address, followed by Hon. M. J. Hennessey, of Bracken county, who sarcastically said in closing his response:

"I am glad to see the Farmers' Institute taken out of politics and I am glad to see the politicians leave the institute."

Regulars Elect Officers.

The regular institute elected Hon. J. R. Zimmerman, of Bullitt county, president; Charles Marvin, of Scott county, vice president; Jack Coleman, of Carroll county, second vice president and Harry McCarty, of Nicholasville, secretary.

Rump Convention Elects

The rump convention re-elected the old officers of the institute as follows:

T. J. Biggstaff, Mt. Sterling, president; C. M. Barnett, Hartford, first vice president; W. T. Chilton, Campbellsburg, second vice president; John C. Blair, Carlisle, third vice president; J. S. Cassidy, Inez, treasurer; P. M. Shy, Paris, secretary.

Upon the re-assembling of the Institute at 2 o'clock in the afternoon Hon. E. E. Barton, of Falmouth, delivered an interesting address on "The Value of Sweet Clover." He said he had a field that has been worn, from years of cultivation in corn and tobacco, and that it was next to impossible to get a stand of either grass or clover, but that sweet clover made a good stand and grew luxuriantly.

Mr. Barton said sweet clover was the king of the legume family, gathering and storing nitrogen in the soil and rehabilitating tired fields. As a producer of humus and a giver of energy to soil bacteria it had no equal and when planted was a tonic to tired and wasted soils.

ed drouth it remained green when grass was dead and brown.

Governor The "Boss Farmer."
When Mr. Barton had finished Governor James B. McCreary appeared and as he mounted the rostrum he was given a cordial welcome. The Governor was introduced by Commissioner Newman as the "Boss Farmer of the Commonwealth."

GENEROSITY OF MANAGERS

Messrs. Bloomfield & Ratliff Make Liberal Donation to Associated Charities When Receipts Show a Loss.

The directors of the Associated Charities wish to thank those who attend the Auditorium on Tuesday, as the proceeds from the two skating sessions were to be given to that organization.

The following self-explanatory letter has been received by the Secretary, Miss Sue Peddicord.

Winchester, Ky., Feb. 27, 1912.

Miss Peddicord:
You will find our check enclosed for $8.05. This seems small, but Monday and Tuesday nights were the smallest crowds we have had. Guess it was due to the show at Opera House. In this check we donate $5 as our expenses exceeded the difference and shows a net loss to us of the above amount. We are sorry it was not more.

Yours truly,
BLOOMFIELD & RATLIFF,
Managers Auditorium.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE AND FOUR ACRES OF LAND

Tracy & Stokely, agents for W. T. Gilbert, sold his slaughter house and four acres of land situated on the Muddy Creek pike, just outside the city limits, to D. S. Hagagr, Road Supervisor for Clark county, for $1800 cash.

Mr. Gilbert will conduct a slaughter house at the old brick kiln property on the L. & N. railroad.

ROOSEVELT UPHOLDS COLUMBUS PLATFORM

Stands by His Speech to Ohio Constitutional Convention and Explains His Judicial Recall Idea.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28.—Standing in the Assembly chamber of the Massachusetts capitol Monday, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt explained and emphasized his new project for the limited recall of judicial decisions. Colonel Roosevelt struck out boldly and replied to those who have criticized his plan.

"Our system of government is a confessed failure," he said, "unless the people are to be trusted to govern themselves."

Colonel Roosevelt's visit to the State house was unexpected. After appearing in the House he went to the Senate chamber and spoke briefly. In both instances he was received cordially, although no prolonged applause during his speech. At the outset, Colonel Roosevelt declared:

"I know you expect me to speak today, telling you just what I think and believe." He continued:

"We of today, if worthy of endeavoring to lead the people aright, must be doing our part to secure social and industrial justice through genuine popular rule."

Favors Direct Nomination

"I believe in general popular rule. I favor direct nominations, direct primaries, including direct perfecting presidential primaries, not only for local, but State delegates. I believe in the adoption of wisely chosen devices, under which the initiative and referendum can be used not as a substitute for a representative government, but to make representative government genuinely representative; to see it corrected if it becomes misrepresentative."

"And I wish to say a few words specifically on the proposition of giving to the people in the last resort the interpretation of the constitution. My proposition is simple. It is that if the people know enough to make the constitution, they know enough in the last resort to say what it was that they meant when they made it."

"I wish to call attention to the entirely different character of the National and State constitutions. In the national constitution we deal with an instrument designed to define the limits of power between nation and states. As regards the national constitution, there must be somebody capable of deciding what these limits are, when we come to discuss relative claims of conflicting sovereignties, each sovereign in its own sphere."

State Constitutions Different

"The state constitutions has nothing analogous so that there is no question in a state of any conflicting sovereignty. There is only one sovereignty, the sovereignty of the people. You are not the sovereigns neither is the executive; neither is the judiciary. All three possess powers delegated by the people, but not parted with, whereas in the national constitution the legislative branch has no power save that which is expressly granted by the constitution."

"Under the state constitution the legislative body has all power that is not forbidden by the constitution. In the last resort, the people after due deliberation must be the masters and their representatives, their servants."

What Roosevelt Advocates

"There is nothing ignoble in any man fit to be a public servant avowing that he is such. Abraham Lincoln, in his first inaugural speech, spoke of his absolute responsibility to his masters, the American people. 'Now in the measure I advocate in the method of securing the proper interpretation of the constitution, remember to take what I say and not the headlines of the newspapers purporting to tell what I say. I am not advocating recall of judges, but a measure which, if adopted, will prevent the necessity for the recall of judges. I am not advocating the recall of the judge, but the recall of legalism to justice."

Wants People To Speak

"All I advocate is giving the people the right to put their opinion into practical effect as a part of the state law, if the state court declines to follow the example of the Supreme Court; declines to adhere to doctrine thus laid down by Justice Holmes, a doctrine which now is part of the law of the nation. If the courts had lived up to the doctrine which is laid down by Justice Holmes, none of the decisions of which I have complained could have been made and there would have been no need of advocating this measure. But taking my own state, the Court of Appeals of New York, in the workingman's compensation, referred in their opinion of this very decision quoted and refused to follow it."

"The Supreme Court held one view, the Court of Appeals of the state took the other view, and all I ask is that the people themselves, in such cases, shall be given a chance to declare whether they will stand by the Supreme Court of the nation, when it stands for human rights, or by the chief court of their own state when it stands against human rights. 'If that is a revolution, make the most of it.'"

"Some people speak as if there were some peculiar sanctity in a judicial opinion. Very well. In which opinion? Which is the sacred opinion? The decision of the Supreme Court of the decision of a state court that conflicts with it? They cannot both be sacred and I hold that the decision that holds for human rights is sacred."

BODIES OF LITTLE ONES IN RUINS

Mass of Charred Debris is Too Hot To Permit The Recovery of Corpses of the Victims.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 28.—Although the mass of charred and crumbling ruins of the Colored Orphans' Home, on the Georgetown pike, at the end of the city limits, was still too hot to permit an investigation late Tuesday afternoon, the three little girls who were missing after the other thirty-one children had been taken from the burning building, were unaccounted for and undoubtedly they perished in the flames which destroyed their sleeping quarters.

Nothing was left of the three-story brick building except the walls and charred pieces of heavy frame work and enough fire still remained within the walls to prevent a search for the bodies of the three unfortunate little negro girls, who perished, probably without ever awakening. The children were Sallie Howard, 8 years old; Siranda Lee Mason, 9 years old, and Mattie C. Mason, 4 years old, the parents of all of whom formerly lived in Lexington.

Firemen Are Injured

It was learned Tuesday that Capt. Jack Slaven and Harry W. Schaeffer, members of the fire department, and William Walker, 10 years old, an inmate of the home, were painfully injured during the fire. Firemen Slaven and Schaeffer were caught under the timbers of a falling floor while fighting the fire and had a narrow escape, both receiving minor injuries, and Schaeffer also received a deep cut in the right wrist when smashing a window glass to enter the building. The little Walker boy sustained a fractured collar bone when sliding down the ladder to escape from the burning building.

Futile Raucality.
"Why do road agents hold up stage coaches?" "I suppose to get money." "But don't they get only stage money?"

SCOBERTH CANDIDACY IN HANDS OF FRIENDS

Woodford Representative and Congressional Aspirant is Likely to Escape Attack of Typhoid.

Versailles, Ky., Feb. 28.—Report Tuesday night from the bedside of Representative Harry A. Schoberth, who is ill at a local hospital, were that Mr. Schoberth's condition was materially improved during the day, and his physicians said he might escape typhoid fever, which, it was announced Monday, might develop judging from symptoms in the case at that time.

Mr. Schoberth's temperature was lower than on Monday, while other symptoms led the physician in charge of his case to believe a siege of typhoid fever to be avoided. It is believed that unless new complications arise in his illness, Mr. Schoberth may be up in a week or ten days.

His candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congressman against Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, is said to now be in the hands of his friends, and no action is said to have been taken toward his withdrawal from the race.

WHY THE LAND FARES ILL.

A recent issue of "Life" paraphrases one of the great poets as follows:

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where Elinor Glyns accumulate
And Dickens decay."

One of our exchanges, commenting on "Life's" little take-off says that some of those hastening ills are the rush for striking and conspicuous clothing by women instead of for elegance in attire; the vogue of quick-time trashy jingles instead of real music; the fondness for lavish expenditure rather than a prudent conservation of money surplus; the decadence of sound religious principles into carelessness about sacred things; the glorification of profits in business and profession life rather than integrity and trustworthiness;
the seeking for pleasure in shallow and muddy pools of amusement rather than in clear brooks and rivers of real life and literature.

It is true that such slush as "Three Weeks" and other books of a similar character have displaced the "Old Curiosity Shop," with its wonderful tenderness and love and its unequalled humor. It is also true that such risqué stories as "The One Woman" have put "David Copperfield" and "Barnaby Rudge" on the shelf. But it is lamentably true that plays now allowed on the stage and which draw enormous crowds would not have been permitted in public twenty years ago. It would seem that playwrights and authors of the present day try to make their work as suggestive as possible and yet avoid being barred from the mails, and our young people are permitted to witness these prurient plays and read the wretched rot
that is perpetrated under the name of "love stories," without even a parental hand to direct them.

It is time for our fathers and mothers to take a hand when the theater descends into the depths for its topics and when books reek with sins of which the innocent have no knowledge and should have no knowledge. And "ill will fare the land" unless they do pay some attention to the education, the reading and the amusements of their children.

The ragtime jingle of the present day, the music of such pieces as "Every Little Movement" and "The Merry Widow" waltz, and all such degenerate stuff ought to be barred from public presentation and the only way to bar such stuff is for an aroused public sentiment to hiss it from the stage. And if parents will pay some attention to the books which their daughters read and the plays which girls and boys are permitted to attend the response of the publishers and managers will be prompt. They are in the thing as a matter of business and when their pocketbooks are hit they "holler."

We wonder if the Winchester purse snatchers are working in connection with the New York taxicab robbers.

After the announcement that a clairvoyant had carried off thousands of dollars from credulous women in Louisville, the papers say that an investigation of the public schools will be made. Why not investigate the fool killer, too?

A total of 175,000 pounds of tobacco were sold at the Seabee house Tuesday afternoon at prices ranging from $2 to $36. Most of the tobacco was of a lower grade than those of last week.

CONFEDERATE PENSION BILL PASSES HOUSE

Amendment Introduced by Green
Keller Adopted And Measure Wins
62 to 14.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 28.—The House Tuesday passed the Confederate Pension Bill introduced by Senator Glenn, though slightly amended.
This bill gives indigent Confederate soldiers a pension of $10 per month.
It came up as a special order. Mr.
Keller offered an amendment striking out the provision that all soldiers over 65 years old be held "disabled" and adding an emergency clause.

By a vote of 62 to 14 the House defeated an amendment proposed by Mr. Ahl to include on the pension rolls all men who served in the militia during the Civil War.

After adopting the Keller amendment, the House, by a vote of 69 to 13 passed the bill. The Senate will accept the House amendments.
Mar. Collins, of Fleming, was the only Democrat to vote against the bill.

University Bill Recommended

The bill to increase by $50,000
the annual appropriation of State University, by $35,000 the annual allowance to the Eastern Normal School and by $25,000 that to the Western Normal School, after some discussion, was recommended with leave to report after the investigation of the State University has been completed.

House bill 61, the Price measure to create a State Board of Forestry, and carrying an annual appropriation of $15,000 was next in point of consideration. Mr. Thompson, of Covington, explained the bill at some length, and 53 members voted for it, 27 opposing it.

The House went into Committee of the whole to discuss the Finn railroad bill. A motion was made to give Judge Alex P. Humphrey, of Louisville, an opportunity to be heard on the bill.

The motion to delay a day was made by Mr. Shanks, of Lincoln.

Mr. Drury declared it was an effort to kill the Finn bill.

The motion carried by a vote of 52 to 15, and Judge Humphrey will appear before the House Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, in Committee of the Whole of the House. The House will dispose of the bill Wednesday.

Representative Clay, of Bourbon,
was given consent to call up his bill,
304, authorizing the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company to acquire the Frankfort & Cincinnati line, 40 miles in length, connecting Frankfort, Georgetown and Paris.

The bill provoked considerable discussion. It required a constitutional amendment authorizing railroad companies to purchase parallel lines not over 100 miles in length.

Mr. Hamilton, of Franklin, approved the bill. Mr. Wiley, of Scott county, spoke for it and filed a petition of 300 Scott county citizens urging its passage. Mr. Niles, of Henderson, and Mr. Reed, of Mason, spoke against the bill.

The Clay Bill received 50 votes to 27 against it, failing of passage, requiring 60 votes. An effort will be made later to revive the measure.

Proceedings in Senate.

The Senate spent most of the day in the Committee of the Whole, with Senator Huffaker in the chair, to consider a half dozen bills proposing amendments to the civil code.

President McDermott took the floor and spoke in favor of the bills, saying Kentucky was far behind other states in the matter of reforms in legal procedure. He said in Kentucky procedure was founded on English procedure and England had abandoned the old procedure many years ago, yet Kentucky still followed the old system, which was technical and cumbersome.

Game Commission Passes Bill

The Hogg bill, creating a Game and Fish Commission, and requiring hunters who live in this state to pay one dollar a year gun tax and foreign hunters $15, came up as a special order. The sums derived from this tax are to be devoted to paying the expenses of the commission and to establish fish hatcheries in different parts of the state.

The bill passed after speeches by Senators Thomas, Hogg, Durham and Newcomb favoring it, by 28 to
2. Senators Bale and Scott voted against the bill.

JUDGE AND JURY CLASH BITTERLY

Twelve Men were denied dismissal by

Judge Swayne, Who Orders Them

to Decide Prisoner's Fate.

Ft. Worth, Texas, Feb. 28—

Judge and jury clashed bitterly

Tuesday in the Sneed trial when the 12 men for the third time were denied dismissal by Judge Swayne, who peremptorily ordered them to decide the fate of the prisoner, J. B. Sneed, the millionaire, who killed Captain A. G.

Boyce, here January 13.

"Don't send me any more written communications, either," said the Judge.

"We will send as many as we like,"

replied Foreman Strong.

"Each of you pray that God help you reach a verdict," concluded

Judge Swayne, who announced he will keep the men locked up two or three more days if necessary. They still stand 7 to 5. It was learned

Tuesday that the grand jury is investigating reports that several jurors had been bribed and that arrests are expected.

REMOVER OVER FALSE TESTIMONY

That Sent Suitor to Prison For

Killing Rival, Draws Confession

From Tennessee Girl.

Bristol, Tenn., Feb. 28.—Miss

Jennie Lloyd, cultured and beautiful member of a prominent family, appeared at the county jail at Jonesville Tuesday, demanding that she see Hyatt Slem, a young Virginian, who has been convicted of murder of Cleveland Litton and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary.

With tears flowing down her cheeks Miss Lloyd told Slem that she, as the principal witness in the case, had sworn to a positive falsehood, thus causing his conviction.
She declared that she could not see him suffer under the circumstances and expressed her willingness to go to the state prison in his stead. She then wrote out a confession in which she said that Litton was armed and struck Slem over the head with his revolver before Slem fired the fatal shot.

This confession will go to Governor Mann, that he may consider the advisability of a pardon for Slem in view of the fact that the Court cannot re-open the case.

Slem and Litton were rivals for the affections of Miss Lloyd. Miss Lloyd was present at their fatal quarrel.

George—Oh yes. I popped the corn.

Belgium's Proud Position.

Belgium is one of the smallest countries in regard to area, containing only 11,373 square miles, but it stands today the fifth of all nations of the world in regard to commerce and industry, and is the most densely settled in Europe, containing 7,317,561 inhabitants. It is also one of the

Those Undesired Wrinkles.

An habitual expression of inquiry is to blame for permanent lines across the forehead. Then there is another muscle whose office is to draw down the eyebrows. It does its piece of work—and what we speak of is a frown. The permanency of this expression is not in keeping with a happy nature, and is one of the least desired lines.

Age Limit.

Ellen Terry, the actress, was one day talking about the many women who asked her to help them get on the stage, when she said: "Every woman under 30 imagines that she is an actress. And every actress believes that she is under 30."

YOUNG SOCIETY GIRL CAPTURES BURGLAR

Story of Her Heroism Comes Out When She Appears With Her Father in Court Against Intruder.

St. Louis, Feb. 28.—After a six-foot burglar had knocked down her father in the rear yard of their home and was attempting to escape, Miss Theresa Wells, 20 years old, an athletic St. Louis girl, pursued and captured him.

Not until she had pounded him, did the burglar become mild enough for Miss Wells to handle. Then she held him prisoner until her father came to her assistance.

The story of Miss Wells' heroism came modestly forth from her lips Tuesday in the Dayton-street Police Court, where she and her father, William Wells, 50 years old, appeared against the intruder who said he was Frank Jones, of East St. Louis.

CHARLES LOUIS LOOS DIES AT LEXINGTON

Educator, Minister And Scholar So Long Connected With Transylvania University Passes Away.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 28.—Prof. Charles Louis Loos, at various times president and member of the faculties of Transylvania University and other institutions of learning, widely known as an educator, minister of the Christian church and scholar, died at his home, 457 West Fourth street Tuesday, following an attack of pneumonia last fall, upon recovery from which he suffered a relapse in January, which left his condition so weakened that he was unable to rally. He was 88 years old December 22 last.

Last October Prof. Loos contracted a bronchial trouble, which later developed into pneumonia, during which illness his condition was quite critical for several weeks and his recovery was for a time regarded as doubtful. Shortly before the Christmas holidays, however, his recovery was sufficient to permit him to be up and occasionally to leave his home.

During the first week of January he suffered a relapse, and, although his physicians pronounced him free from symptoms of pneumonia, the first attack had left his physical condition too weak to withstand the ravages of his illness attendant upon the relapse, and his strength gradually declined until death came.

Prof. Loos was born near Paris, France, December 22, 1823, and came to America with the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Bethany College, West Virginia, in 1840, and received the degree of Master of Arts from Butler College of Indianapolis in 1852, later receiving the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the same school. He was president of Eureka College, Ill., from 1857 to 1858, and president of Kentucky (now Transylvania) University, Lexington, the seventeen years from 1880 to 1897. After resigning the presidency, he continued as professor of the Greek language until 1900, when he retired from active service as a beneficiary of the Carnegie Educational Endowment Fund, continuing, however, to hold the position of Professor Emeritus of Greek and Biblical History.

At Transylvania University he was known as the Grand Old Man of the University, and he, with Dr. Robert Graham, and Dr. J. W. McGarvey, both deceased, formed the trinity of consecrated men who made Transylvania University famous as an educational institution.

The funeral services will be held at the Central Christian church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and burial will take place in the Lexington cemetery. The detailed arrangements for the funeral, including the selection of the officiating ministers, have not been completed, and will be announced later.
